

MEDIA CONTACT:

Marie McGehee
+ 1 617 664 1898

INVESTOR CONFIDENCE INDEX DECLINES FROM 73.1 TO 70.7 IN SEPTEMBER

Boston, September 23, 2008 – State Street Global Markets, the investment research and trading arm of State Street Corporation (NYSE:STT), today released the results of the State Street Investor Confidence Index[®] for September 2008.

Global Investor Confidence decreased by 2.4 points to 70.7 from a revised August level of 73.1. Confidence among North American investors remained subdued at a level of 76.1, up just 0.9 from August's revised level. Asian investors, too, felt pessimistic and their confidence fell 2.5 points from a revised level of 88.3 to 85.8. By contrast, European investors were somewhat more optimistic, and their confidence rose 5.4 points to 81.8 from a revised August level of 76.4

Developed through State Street Global Markets' research partnership, State Street Associates, by Harvard University professor Ken Froot and State Street Associates Director Paul O'Connell, the State Street Investor Confidence Index measures investor confidence on a quantitative basis by analyzing the actual buying and selling patterns of institutional investors. The index is based on financial theory that assigns precise meaning to changes in investor risk appetite, or the willingness of investors to allocate their portfolios to equities. The more of their portfolio that institutional investors are willing to devote to equities, the greater their risk appetite or confidence.

"This month's reading of Global Investor Confidence is the third lowest we have recorded since the inception of the Index over ten years ago," commented Froot. "This is perhaps unsurprising, given the market turmoil that we have experienced. In examining the underlying data, we have discovered that, alongside the diminution in risk appetite, there is a pronounced increase in the heterogeneity of investor positions. In deleveraging, institutional investors have sought to exit some of the more 'crowded' trades in the marketplace."

"Despite registering a small increase, the confidence of North American investors remains in the lower 10th percentile that we have observed over the four years that the index has been calculated" added O'Connell. "Only in Europe did we observe increased appetite for risk-taking, albeit off very low levels. These readings were calculated before the latest plans to address the balance sheet concerns with major US financial intermediaries were mooted. It remains to be seen whether these plans will lead to an improvement in confidence over the coming days and weeks."

September Results

Global	70.7
N. America	76.1
Europe	81.8
Asia-Pacific	85.8

About State Street Global Markets:

State Street Global Markets provides specialized investment research and trading in foreign exchange, equities, fixed income and derivatives. Its goal is to enhance and preserve portfolio values for asset managers and asset owners. From its unique position at the crossroads of the global markets, it creates and unlocks value for its clients with original flow-based research, innovative portfolio strategies, trade process optimization, and global connectivity across multiple asset classes and markets.

State Street Global Markets' research team of leading academic and industry experts is committed to continually advancing the science, including theory and application of its proprietary investor behavior research and innovative portfolio & risk management technologies to help its clients challenge conventional thinking, shape ideas, make more informed investment decisions and deliver measurable results.

About the State Street Investor Confidence Index[®]:

The index is released globally at 10 a.m. Eastern time in Boston on the second to last Tuesday of each month. More information on the State Street Investor Confidence Index, including frequently asked questions and a calendar of release dates, is available at <http://www.statestreet.com/investorconfidenceindex>. The previous month's calculations for the index are revised to account for trading activity through the end of the reporting period.

About State Street:

State Street Corporation (NYSE: STT) is the world's leading provider of financial services to institutional investors, including investment servicing, investment management and investment research and trading. With $15.3 trillion in assets under custody and $1.9 trillion in assets under management at June 30, 2008, State Street operates in 26 countries and more than 100 geographic markets worldwide and employs 28,700 worldwide. For more information, visit State Street's web site at www.statestreet.com.

This news announcement contains forward-looking statements as defined by United States securities laws, including statements about the financial outlook and business environment. Those statements are based on current expectations and involve a number of risks and uncertainties, including those related to the pace at which State Street adds new clients or at which existing clients use additional services, the value of global and regional financial markets, the pace of cross-border investment activity, changes in interest rates, the pace of worldwide economic growth and rates of inflation, the extent of volatility in currency markets, consolidations among clients and competitors, State Street's business mix, the dynamics of markets State Street serves, and State Street's success at integrating and converting acquisitions into its business. Other important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated by any forward-looking statements are set forth in State Street's 2007 annual report and subsequent SEC filings. State Street encourages investors to read the corporation's annual report, particularly the section on factors that may affect financial results, and its subsequent SEC filings for additional information with respect to any forward-looking statements and prior to making any investment decision. The forward-looking statements contained in this press release speak only as of the date hereof, September 23, 2008, and the company will not undertake efforts to revise those forward-looking statements to reflect events after this date.

#