

Media Contact:
Carolyn Cichon
617-664-8672

INVESTOR CONFIDENCE INDEX RISES TO 100.6 IN MARCH

---

Boston, March 20, 2007 – State Street Global Markets, the investment research and trading arm of State Street Corporation (NYSE:STT), released today the results of the State Street Investor Confidence Index® for March 2007.

Global Investor Confidence increased sharply by 10.0 points to 100.6 from February's revised reading of 90.6. Looking regionally, the confidence of North American institutional investors rose strongly from 101.9 to 115.1. The confidence of European investors decreased 5.1 points to 87.4, while the confidence of Asian investors increased slightly from a revised reading of 82.5 to 82.8.

Developed through State Street Global Markets' research partnership, State Street Associates, by Harvard University professor Ken Froot and State Street Associates Director Paul O'Connell, the State Street Investor Confidence Index® measures investor confidence on a quantitative basis by analyzing the actual buying and selling patterns of institutional investors. The index is based on financial theory that assigns precise meaning to changes in investor risk appetite, or the willingness of investors to allocate their portfolios to equities. The more of their portfolio that institutional investors are willing to devote to equities, the greater their risk appetite or confidence.

"The strong increase in the confidence of global institutional investors can be traced back to the market turmoil that began towards the end of last month," said Froot. "Once the initial volatility abated, institutional investors stepped in and allocated towards equities in the second week of March to take advantage of better valuations that were presented. While some participants in the marketplace wanted to divest themselves of equities over recent weeks, institutional investors have been ready and willing to take the other side.”

“Looking regionally, there is a striking divergence in views,” added O’Connell. While US investors felt comfortable increasing their exposure to equities in March, European confidence fell back from its recent high levels, and Asian investor confidence remained broadly flat for a second month running. At the same time, the overall level of buying and selling activity has increased, and confidence may be more volatile going forward.”

Global	100.6
N. America	115.1
Europe	87.4
Asia-Pacific	82.8

About State Street Global Markets:

State Street Global Markets provides specialized investment research and trading in foreign exchange, equities, fixed income and derivatives. Its goal is to enhance and preserve portfolio values for asset managers and asset owners. From its unique position at the crossroads of the global markets, it creates and unlocks value for its clients with original flow-based research, innovative portfolio strategies, trade process optimization, and global connectivity across multiple asset classes and markets.

State Street Global Markets’ research team of leading academic and industry experts is committed to continually advancing the science, including theory and application of its proprietary investor behavior research and innovative portfolio & risk management technologies to help its clients challenge conventional thinking, shape ideas, make more informed investment decisions and deliver measurable results.

About the State Street Investor Confidence Index®:

The index is released globally at 10 a.m. Eastern time in Boston on the second to last Tuesday of each month. More information on the State Street Investor Confidence Index, including frequently asked questions and a calendar of release dates, is available at <http://www.statestreet.com/investorconfidenceindex>. The previous month's calculations for the index are revised to account for trading activity through the end of the reporting period.

About State Street:

State Street Corporation is the world's leading specialist in providing institutional investors with investment servicing, investment management and investment research and trading services. With $11.9 trillion in assets under custody and $1.7 trillion in assets under management as of December 31, 2006, State Street operates in 26 countries and more than 100 geographic markets worldwide. For more information, visit State Street's web site at www.statestreet.com.

This news announcement contains forward-looking statements as defined by United States securities laws, including statements about the financial outlook and business environment. Those statements are based on current expectations and involve a number of risks and uncertainties, including those related to the pace at which State Street adds new clients or at which existing clients use additional services, the value of global and regional financial markets, the pace of cross-border investment activity, changes in interest rates, the pace of worldwide economic growth and rates of inflation, the extent of volatility in currency markets, consolidations among clients and competitors, State Street's business mix, the dynamics of markets State Street serves, and State Street's success at integrating and converting acquisitions into its business. Other important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated by any forward-looking statements are set forth in State Street's 2006 annual report and subsequent SEC filings. State Street encourages investors to read the corporation's annual report, particularly the section on factors that may affect financial results, and its subsequent SEC filings for additional information with respect to any forward-looking statements and prior to making any investment decision. The forward-looking statements contained in this press release speak only as of the date hereof, March 20, 2007, and the company will not undertake efforts to revise those forward-looking statements to reflect events after this date.

###